Des Moines Energy and Water Use Benchmarking Ordinance

On June 3, 2019, the Des Moines City Council passed the Energy and Water Benchmarking Ordinance requiring owners of buildings 25,000 sq. ft or larger to benchmark and submit to the City of Des Moines their energy and water usage annually by May 1. Benchmarking a building is measuring its energy and water use and using that data to compare its performance over time as well as to compare it to similar buildings.

Des Moines Building ID List

Below is the list of building addresses required to comply with the new ordinance. If you think your building is eligible for an exemption based on the ordinance exemption allowances, your building will still be on the list and you will need to apply for exemption status online. For more information or to apply for exemption, visit: dsm.city/benchmarkingdsm

Tip: To easily search for your property, press Ctrl + f to open "Find" in excel. Then type in your address in the "Find what:" box and select the "Find Next" button. Excel will take you to the cell where there's a match.

Des Moines Building ID List

Below is the list of building addresses required to comply with the new ordinance. If you think your building is eligible for an exemption based on the ordinance exemption allowances, your building will still be on the list and you will need to apply for exemption status online. For more information or to apply for exemption, visit: dsm.city/benchmarkingdsm

Tip: To easily search for your property, press Ctrl + f to open “Find” in excel. Then type in your address in the "Find what:" box and select the "Find Next" button. Excel will take you to the cell where there's a match.

Des Moines Building ID List

Below is the list of building addresses required to comply with the new ordinance. If you think your building is eligible for an exemption based on the ordinance exemption allowances, your building will still be on the list and you will need to apply for exemption status online. For more information or to apply for exemption, visit: dsm.city/benchmarkingdsm

Tip: To easily search for your property, press Ctrl + f to open “Find” in excel. Then type in your address in the “Find what:” box and select the “Find Next” button. Excel will take you to the cell where there’s a match.

Des Moines Building ID List

Below is the list of building addresses required to comply with the new ordinance. If you think your building is eligible for an exemption based on the ordinance exemption allowances, your building will still be on the list and you will need to apply for exemption status online. For more information or to apply for exemption, visit: dsm.city/benchmarkingdsm

Tip: To easily search for your property, press Ctrl + f to open “Find” in excel. Then type in your address in the "Find what:" box and select the "Find Next" button. Excel will take you to the cell where there’s a match.

Below is the list of building addresses required to comply with the new ordinance. If you think your building is eligible for an exemption based on the ordinance exemption allowances, your building will still be on the list and you will need to apply for exemption status online. For more information or to apply for exemption, visit: dsm.city/benchmarkingdsm

Tip: To easily search for your property, press Ctrl + f to open “Find” in excel. Then type in your address in the "find what:" box and select the "Find Next" button. Excel will take you to the cell where there's a match.
