

BLUEGRASS BLAST

Residents boogie down in Wylie

Wylie residents didn't let the heat bother them as they headed out for the annual Bluegrass on Ballard festival, which featured a car show, plenty of food, and of course—lots of bluegrass.

COURTESY: Judy Truesdell/City of Wylie, PHOTOS: Craig Kelly

Po' Ramblin' Boys perform as the sun set on Bluegrass on Ballard.

More than 220 cars lined Ballard Avenue and side streets for the car show, sponsored by the East Fork Masonic Lodge.

Festive food is almost as much a part of Bluegrass on Ballard as the music. Friends enjoyed funnel cakes liberally sprinkled with powdered sugar.

In addition to the bands on the main stage in Olde City Park, folks brought their instruments to pick and jam on the street, in restaurants, and in the park.

Shady Olde City Park served as the perfect backdrop for a day of bluegrass music in historic downtown Wylie.